Cultural Resources Management

Archaeological and historical research is often required as a condition for obtaining federal funds or permits from state or federal agencies, during due diligence activities in a real estate acquisition, or in order to otherwise satisfy various historic preservation laws.

Algonquin Consultants offers the full range of historic preservation services to businesses, agencies, & other organizations, including:

- ▲ Archaeological surveys and inspections
- ▲ Site monitoring & deep sediment examination
- ▲ National Register eligibility evaluations (“significance assessments”)
- ▲ National Register nomination applications
- ▲ Historic American Buildings Survey & Historic American Engineering Record recordings
- ▲ Project impact mitigation, including mediation among affected interest groups
- ▲ Consultation/coordination for the client with state and federal reviewing agencies
- ▲ Preparation of short- & long-term cultural resources management plans & agreements
- ▲ Research for specific archaeological & historical issues
- ▲ Identification of Traditional Cultural Properties
- ▲ 1 & 2-day trainings on the National Historic Preservation Act (NHPA), National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA), Archaeological Resources Protection Act (ARPA), & Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act (NAGPRA)

Our staff meet the federal professional qualification standards set forth by the US Secretary of the Interior in accordance with the National Historic Preservation Act (36CFR61). We are recognized for our understanding of complex development issues and our familiarity with the requirements of the various permitting agencies, funders, and other stakeholders who can impact projects. We are dedicated to timely completion, cost-effectiveness, and excellence in project performance. Call on us whenever we can offer you the Algonquin Advantage.
